

Ramen Bowls

[RECIPE PACK]

Thank you for cooking with us.

We hope to see you soon!

Visit tastebudskitchen.com for more information.

Ramen Dough

Makes 20 oz

Ingredients

Ramen Dough

420 g	all-purpose flour
1 C	water
½ t	salt
18 g	baking soda
½ C	all-purpose flour (for kneading)

Ramen noodles

1 T	cornstarch
3 T	all-purpose flour

Instructions

Preheat oven to 300 degrees. Onto a small sheet tray, place baking soda into the oven and bake for 45 minutes. Remove and let cool completely before using.

In a large bowl combine flour and salt and form a well in the middle. In a separate bowl combine water and baking soda, mix until the baking soda is dissolved. Gradually add water mixture a little at a time into the middle of the well, slowly incorporate the flour with each addition of water. Adding the water a little at a time will create small pea sized pieces of dough which ensures the dough is well hydrated. Once flour and water are combined, use extra flour, little by little, to knead and form a ball that is lightly sticky to touch.

If dough becomes too dry add water, 1 tablespoon at a time. If dough is sticky, sprinkle with flour. Knead dough for 5-8 minutes. Dough should feel tight and should bounce back when gently pressed. Wrap in plastic wrap and rest for 20 minutes before using.

SHARE YOUR PICS

#TasteBudsKitchen

Ramen Dough

TBK TIP: Ramen dough needs to rest after kneading so the glutens can relax or the dough will not stretch as easily.

Follow pasta attachment instructions for rolling out the dough and cutting into desired thickness, or roll pasta dough by hand with a rolling pin until very thin and cut into desired thickness.

Pasta Roller Instructions

Cut dough into 4 even pieces. Working with 1 piece at a time, flatten dough into an oblong shape slightly thinner than the pasta machine's widest setting (#1). Dust dough very lightly with flour, and feed through machine. Fold lengthwise into thirds and rotate 90 degrees. Repeat once more on the same setting to smooth dough and increase its elasticity. Turn the dial to next narrower setting (#2). Pass dough through once, gently supporting it with your palm. Continue to press dough, passing it through the next two narrow settings (#4 & #6) until sheet is thin but still intact. If dough bubbles or tears, pass it through again, and dust with flour to prevent sticking. Hang sheets of pasta to dry. Once dry, roll flat sheets of dough through a spaghetti cutter attachment on the KitchenAid. Place a tray with half cornstarch half flour underneath to catch the noodles. If the noodles are too sticky, it will stick back together once cut; flour liberally as needed. Additionally, if the dough is too dry and hard it will crack when put through the cutter attachment. If pieces stick together, gently pull them apart; they should come apart easily and dust with flour/cornstarch mixture.

Cooking Fresh Dough

Heavily salt a pot of boiling water. Add fresh ramen to the rapidly boiling water, and stir immediately to keep from sticking; let it come back to a boil. Fresh dough takes about 2-4 minutes to cook, it cooks quicker than dried dough because it does not need to re-hydrate. Noodles are best served immediately or it will stick together. Rinse quickly in cold water to take any excess starchy cooking liquid off and toss in sesame oil or vegetable oil before serving.

SHARE YOUR PICS

 #TasteBudsKitchen

Chicken Ramen Bowl

Makes 4-6 servings

Ingredients

Chicken Thighs

4-6	chicken thighs, boneless & skinless (4 oz per person)
¼ C	soy sauce
3 ½ T	brown sugar
1 t	paprika
1	garlic clove, grated
0.4 oz	ginger, grated

Shoyu Ramen Broth

4-6	eggs (1 per person)
2 T	vegetable oil
6 oz	shiitake mushrooms, sliced
3	scallions, sliced
16 oz	baby bok choy, chopped
0.4 oz	ginger, minced
2	garlic cloves, minced
pinch	salt
pinch	pepper
3 T	soy sauce
3 T	mirin
6 C	chicken stock

Ramen

20 oz	fresh or dried ramen noodles
1 T	sesame oil

Instructions

SHARE YOUR PICS

#TasteBudsKitchen

Chicken Ramen Bowl

Preheat oven to 425 degrees. Line a baking sheet with aluminum foil and spray with cooking spray.

Into a medium bowl combine soy sauce, brown sugar, paprika, garlic and ginger. Place chicken thighs into the bowl, gently massage in marinade, cover and let marinate for at least 20 minutes. Bake in the oven for 15-20 minutes, or until cooked through. Remove from oven and set aside. When cool enough to handle, slice into thin strips

Into a pot, add vegetable oil to the saucepan over medium heat. Add mushrooms, salt and pepper and cook for 2 minutes, or until softened. Remove mushrooms from pan and add ginger, garlic, scallion bottoms (the white parts) and baby bok choy bottoms (the thicker parts) to the pan cooking for 2 minutes, or until bok choy is softened and fragrant. Deglaze the pan by stirring in stock and bring to a boil. Let boil for about 1 minute then turn down to low simmer and add the soy sauce, mirin, and mushrooms. Continue to simmer for 15 minutes, then add the bok choy to simmering broth for the final 2 minutes to cook.

Bring a large pot of water to boil. Gently lower the eggs (cold from fridge) into the simmering broth and let cook for 6 minutes, set a timer. Meanwhile, set up a small bowl with cold water and ice. Use a slotted spoon to remove the cooked eggs from the pot and place them into the ice water to cool. When cool enough to handle, peel and slice each in half. Set aside. Once removed, add the ramen noodles and cook for 2-3 minutes until soft. Drain in a colander and drizzle with sesame oil to prevent sticking.

Divide noodles between bowls and top with sliced chicken. Pour broth, bok choy, and mushrooms over each bowl, then top with two halves of egg and sliced scallion tops (the green part). Enjoy!

SHARE YOUR PICS

#TasteBudsKitchen